CUT A COUPON

The name is Major Walter Henderson and I am in charge of what is known as "Special Services 3X." Actually it is a form of Psychological warfare against an enemy that uses terror as its main weapon. Now how did I get into this and land in South Viet Nam? I was a Professor of Psychology at State University and I had been a consultant for several movie companies. I wrote an article on Psychological Warfare and made this statement: "We are up against a ruthless enemy that uses guerrilla warfare and terror as its main weapons. How do you fight them? Not by using counter-guerrilla tactics but by an element of shock and surprise."

So the next thing I knew I landed in Washington and was told I should go ahead and prove my idea. My assistant is Captain Nguyen Van Mai of the South Vietnamese Army. I have a large staff working under me in a secret place outside of Saigon. My top American helper is Lieutenant Bob Sheridan. He used to be a special effects man in Hollywood. Now to show you how we operate. Generally speaking, if we use a surprise idea it can't be used a second time if knowledge of it has spread to others in the enemy forces.

Headquarters told us to prepare Anti-Red Chinese Leaflets which were to be dropped at specific points in North Viet Nam. The four sites picked for this experiment were Donghoi, Hatinh, Vinh, and Thanhhoa, all in the central area of North Vietnam and more than 100 miles south of Hanoi. So our experts got together to word these leaflets. It was agreed that one of the leaflets would carry the policy speech of President Johnson on Vietnam.

"What we must do in the other leaflets," pointed out Captain Nguyen Van Mai, "is to get the people of North Viet Nam to see that they are only puppets in the hands of Red China."

So we worked hard on these leaflets. We included sentences like the following: "The Ho Chi Minh clique, lackeys of the Red Chinese." and "To protect yourselves, please keep away from the Communist military installations, offices, industrial plants, and important communications centers." Also, "The air strikes are aimed at stopping the agression of Red China." What we thought most important was this: "You can cross the border and ask for asylum with people who are your friends."

On the first day we sent out four F-100 fighter-bombers and they dropped these leaflets at the places designated. They sighted no enemy aircraft and ground fire was light. All planes returned safely. We kept this up for a week. How could we find out if it were effective? One thing was certain: No refugees from North Vietnam had made any attempt to cross the border. And they could have done it safely. Something was wrong. But what? So we dropped two Intelligent Officers from the South Vietnamese Army. And three days later we got our report from them: "The people read them and are not impressed. Somehow we have failed to make a point."

I was getting a bit upset about it and then I noticed Sergeant Michael Rilley, my orderly, smiling as he looked at one of the leaflets.

"Why don't you include a coupon with each," he grinned. "Like back in the States. Tell them they can get something free. Maybe like a bar of soap. Or a soft drink. You figure it out."

Seemed to me he had something there with that idea. We knew the people were short of food across the border. The Reds were taking all the rice they could get as food for their soldiers and guerrilla fighters. So we decided to attach a coupon which would entitle the bearer to get one bag of rice free. Just one bag for each person.

Up went those four F-100 fighter bombers and they dropped the revised leaflets. In which we told them we were their friends and could prove it. How? Just come and get some food to eat. We would pay the bill. We weren't at all prepared for the many thousands that began to cross the border. In fact, we even had some Viet Cong guerrillas surrender just to be able to get that food supply. And it made the enemy deploy a lot of fighting men to close the border. In spite of that measure, some even managed to get across-to safety, freedom and rice.

As for Sergeant Michael Rilley, I asked him what reward he wanted?

"Just a week off," he grinned. "I got a girl friend who helps out in an orphanage. And I think I better give her a hand with all those new kids they just got."

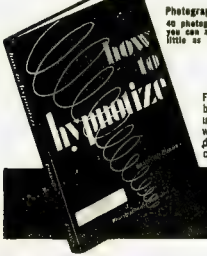
How to HYPNOTIZE

ENTIRELY NEW METHOD

Until recently the process of hypnotic induction was largely based on trial and error methods which succeeded mainly with subjects who were highly susceptible to hypnosis in the first place. The truth is that these highly susceptible subjects make up a very small percentage of the population. That is why amateurs and beginning hypnotists have so often been disappointed in their attempts at trance induction. Now, however, recent scientific research has developed ENTIRELY NEW METHODS that are not only sure fire in their results but quick and easy to achieve! For the first time, these new methods are presented in HOW TO HYPNOTIZE in language that you can easily and successfully follow on the very first reading!

SHOWS YOU STEP BY STEP

This book — which has been acclaimed by doctors and psychologists — is guaranteed to give you all the know-how necessary to induce the trance state in others. It not only explains the latest discoveries in hypnotic induction, but it shows step by step, move by move, exactly how to bring on the trance; how to transform the trance into deeper and still deeper states; and how to terminate the trance quickly and effectively without any dangers whatsoever. You are even given alternative methods, so that you can actually chose the one that suits you best



Photographically Illustrated
40 photographic illustrations show how you can achieve trance induction in as little as 30 seconds!

FREE 10-DAY OFFER

FREE 10-day examination of this book is offered to you if you mail us coupon today. If not delighted with results return it within 10 days for a full refund of the purchase price

FREE 10-DAY OFFER - Mail Coupon Today

USED BY DOCTORS
The book that is being used by doctors and psychologists to learn hypnotic induction is now available to you

FOR ONLY $1.98

GUARANTEE
This guarantees you that HOW TO HYPNOTIZE will show you how to induce the trance, or your purchase price will be refunded upon return of the book.
